

Marangoni to increase prices in the EMEA region in January

Rovereto (Italy) - From mid-January, Marangoni will upwardly adjust the sales price for all products manufactured and/or distributed, including tyre retreading materials, rubber compounds, truck and earthmoving retreaded tyres.

Applicable in all EMEA countries served by the Retreading Systems and Direct Retreading business units, the updated prices will be effective for orders shipped from Monday 17 January 2022, with adjustments at the line and product family level.

As anticipated in a previous press note, the new price increase is necessary due to the continuing rise of energy costs and prices of raw materials and transport.

Details will be provided to customers in the next few days, with further questions handled directly by the sales force.
